NOTE FOR: Director of Central Intelligence

It is clear to me that NFAC regards this NIT "quick look" response exercise as a one-time undertaking that, now done, can be laid to rest until revised in another six months. Your idea of keeping these updated and handy as new information or analysis is developed does not seem to have made any impact. When you get the revisions the week of December 7, you should do a note back to McMahon (copy to Stein) directing that these be kept updated and that as they are revised they be provided to DDO for comment and contributions.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Director of Central Intelligence
FROM : Director, Office of Policy and Planning
SUBJECT : NFAC Response to the National Intelligence Topics of Current Interest

1. In response to your memo on the NFAC "quick look" responses to the NITs (attached), NFAC is doing the following:

- revising the half dozen or so you specifically mentioned as deficient; and
- providing copies of "quick look" responses to the appropriate DDO Divisions where they can be identified for DDO contributions or input.

2. I have proposed to John McMahon that the revised NITs and those on which the DDO has made a contribution be forwarded to you for another look. I would propose that these be available for you by 7 December.
